

The T-Rex

The T Rex is a type of dinosaur that has become extinct .

Would you be able to recognise a T Rex if you saw one? In fact, they are very similar to the some other dinosaurs . Like most dinosaurs, they have 2 long back legs and a body the size of a large lorry .

Typically, they are about 12m long and are often used in films because of their ferocity .

Like the Common dinosaurs, the T Rex lived for about 30 years. They are easy to identify because of their enormous head, be careful to stay away from them they have 60 enormous teeth! Like the Giganotosaurus the T Rex lived in swamps, but could also be found in forests in North America .

The T Rex was a carnivore, so it ate meat usually from other dinosaurs! Some say that its small arms were strong to hold on to its prey . However, palaeontologists say that the T Rex used to scavenge food from other predators . In conclusion be careful if you come across a T Rex!
