

Our RE focus for the term is :World Faiths-Which stories are special and why?

This week are focus question is Why are stories special to people?

I have lots of favourite stories such as Bear Hunt, Hungry Caterpillar, Five minutes peace, Owl babies, Stickman, The Snowman and the list goes on.

I want us to think about why a story may be special to you. A special story is a story that has a meaning behind it or it could be a story given to you by someone special or told at a memorable time of year. I wonder how this story makes you feel?

Stories are often used by people of faith to help them to learn how they should behave and live.

This is a special story for me because I used to ask for it to be read to me time and time again as a young girl. I had also asked to buy it from the book fair because I loved the illustrations in it as a child. I used to imagine I was the girl in the book interacting with the rabbit in the woods. If I pick the book up now it still takes me back to being that little girl and makes me feel carefree and happy.

This book is special to me because both of my children loved this story when they were younger (and they still do now). Again, it was read a lot and they used to sit on my lap before bed. It was a quiet time and we had lots of cuddles before bed and always ended up talking about what Tatty Ratty was feeling and doing in the story.

Our Task this week is to talk about a story that is Special and why?

I would be lovely to hear about your Special story.
