

Cardboard Cathedral

Last week, we looked at the following images of a cathedral.

Here is a bit more information about this cathedral.

The Cardboard Cathedral (formally called the Transitional Cathedral) in New Zealand is the transitional pro-cathedral of the Anglican Diocese of Christchurch. It replaces the original Christchurch Cathedral, which was significantly damaged in the 2011 earthquake. It is made from cardboard tubes, timber and steel.

This was the original Cathedral:

Task:

What is your opinion of a stone Cathedral being replaced with one made out of recycled materials? Is it disrespectful towards God to create a holy building out of 'rubbish'?