L.I. Can I write a diary entry in role?

Using relative clauses, subordinate clauses and apostrophes for possession, write a diary entry as one of the crew members of the Endurance.

The ship has got stuck in an ice floe and they are now having to set up camp as the ship is sinking.

You need to think carefully about the feelings and emotions of the crew member as well as explaining what has been going on and be descriptive. I wonder if you could use some expanded noun phrases too.

Remember that a diary entry will be in first person and written in past tense. Take your time and remember to check that each sentence makes sense – especially as your sentences are more complex now.
