

L.I Can I use descriptive techniques and a range of sentence types to write a setting description?

Today you are going to write a setting description which will be based on <https://www.literacyshed.com/23-degrees-5-minutes.html>.

Look at this model text to support your own writing, use your plan from yesterday. Remember you are not telling the story; you are writing a short part which focusses specifically on describing the scene.

I have chosen a part that isn't related to the snow/ice/cold here, but I am sure there are still elements that you could magpie. Watch the video for ideas that you could magpie for another section of the film.

As I perched eagerly, upon the dilapidated, wooden bench - where many famous explorers had assembled before – the malodorous smells evaporated within my nostrils. Row after row of excited pioneers had arrived for this moment and the warmth of his voice echoed around the circular building of The Albert Hall: letting me forget about the firm and uncomfortable seat. I had waited my whole life to be here (to listen to this great man) and now he looked so small, stooped on the magnificent stage with giant towering columns framing him. The bright winter's sun - like a spotlight on him - burst through the upper leaded windows.
