1. Benjamin Zephaniah

About Benjamin Zephaniah

Benjamin was born on 15th April, 1958 in Handsworth, Birmingham where he grew up. His mum was from Jamaica and was a nurse and his dad a postman from Barbados. He left school when he was only 13. He was dyslexic and unable to read or write but loved poetry so much he taught himself to do both and was able to get his poetry published. He describes himself as a poet, writer, song-writer and musician and loves performing his poems live for audiences.

Benjamin has used his own experiences in his poetry, some of which are funny, others hard hitting and political. He supports Aston Villa football team.

About performance poetry

The oral tradition of sharing stories, songs and poems came thousands of years before the written word. Poets used rhythm, rhyme and repetition to make their poems memorable and historically their performance was incredibly important, this is still true today.

You can read Benjamin's poems in the book Funky Chicken which some of the activities are based on.

ACTIVITY

After hearing Benjamin perform, you can explore either the poems he shared or this short poem called Clever Trevor, which begins: "Oh no, bless my soul, Clever Trevor's scored a goal."

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/clips/zcftsbk> You may want to play it through a few times so that you and your child can hear and understand it fully.

Depending on the ability of the children you may then want to explore the poem more deeply by using open questions. The aim is to get your child thinking about what they have heard. Act as an interested listener. If you thought the answer was incorrect, ask them 'how they came to that?' You may be surprised. Some questions you can ask could be:

- Tell me...was there anything you liked about this poem?
- Was there anything that you particularly disliked...?
- Was there anything that puzzled you?
- Were there any patterns...any connections that you noticed...? (see table below for some ideas)

Poetry Device	Definition	Example
Rhyming	When lines end in the same sound.	"soul" rhymes with "goal"
Alliteration	When words start with the same sound (not necessarily the same letter)	Cool, calm Kate; Peter Piper Picked Peck of Pickled Pepper; I am da Rapping Rasta.
Onomatopoeia	A word that imitates a sound.	The bee buzzed; Anisha gulped down her tea.
Word Repetition	When repeated words or sounds are used.	Oh no bless my soul, Clever Trevor's scored a goal.

Whilst not a device, humour is a tool also used in poetry to engage listeners.

ACTIVITY

Materials required – paper, pencil and a poem to be read out loud

Illustrating a poem. Illustrator and author Chris Riddell illustrates poems whilst they are being read.

Here is a YouTube video of him illustrating a poem by AF Harrold The Troll Song:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ixaHLT0bTcU>

Chris Riddell has illustrated a series of poetry books where he has drawn straight onto the poems as they have been laid out in the book. See video:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PXPUC-DZ9bA>

Read a poem by Benjamin Zephaniah (or another one that you may have available) that may encourage children to have images to illustrate.

Using the book Funky Chickens why not try:

Also written by Benjamin Zephaniah (suitable for children aged 9-13)

Windrush Child

Benjamin Zephaniah shows us what it was like to be a child of the Windrush generation.

Leonard is shocked when he arrives with his mother in the port of Southampton. His father is a stranger to him, it's cold and even the Jamaican food doesn't taste the same as it did back home in Maroon Town. But his parents have brought him here to try to make a better life, so Leonard does his best not to complain, to make new friends, to do well at school – even when people hurt him with their words and with their fists.

Other authors/poets

For children aged 9-13 - Love that Dog by Sharon Creech

A book written in verse form, based in a classroom, but helps to explore poetry and tells us of Jack discovering poetry. It is a moving and memorable story about a boy and his dog and his growing passion for poetry.

101 Poems for Children chosen by Carol Ann Duffy (A Laureate's Choice) (ages 5+)

Featuring such classic poems as 'The Owl and the Pussycat' by Edward Lear and Lewis Carroll's 'Jabberwocky' alongside Edwin Morgan's 'The Loch Ness Monster's Song' and 'Balloons' by Sylvia Plath.

2. Michael Rosen

About Michael

Michael Rosen is a poet, performer, broadcaster, author and scriptwriter. Michael was born on 7th May 1946 in Harrow, London. In 2007 he became the Children's Laureate, a role which he held until 2009. While Laureate, he set up the Roald Dahl Funny Prize which gives awards to the funniest children's books of the year. He was in hospital in 2019 with COVID but is now home and has written a new book called Rigatoni the Pasta Cat.

About the illustrator of Chocolate Cake

Kevin Waldron was born and raised in Dublin. His first book, Mr. Peek and the Misunderstanding at the Zoo won the Bologna Ragazzi Opera Prima Award in 2009. He has illustrated another book written by Michael Rosen called the Tiny Little Fly. Kevin now lives in New York.

About Poetry

Poetry is another way of telling stories. It uses sounds, rhyme, rhythm and sometimes the way it is laid out on a page to tell the story. Poetry is a great way to teach children about language. Looking at the sounds, rhyme, rhythm, imagery and layout of a poem can help to develop a child's reading, writing, speaking and listening skills.

To make the activity easier you could get a copy of the book. However, the activities can be done by watching the video and using the resources below.

ACTIVITY

Have you or your child heard of any of Michael's poems before? The most famous book they may have heard of that Michael has written is – We're Going on a Bear Hunt which is now also an animated film. This was based on an old folk song.

Michael has a YouTube channel where he performs his poetry that you could watch together.
<https://www.youtube.com/user/artificedesign>

ACTIVITY

Explain that in writing the poem, Michael has used different writing methods to help readers understand how much he LOVES eating chocolate cake.

See the next page for an activity to identify how a some of these have been used in part of the poem. You can use boxes to note them down.

Adjectives

An adjective is a word that describes a noun
(the name of a thing or a place)

The beautiful red ball bounced past the window.

Onomatopoeia

A word that imitates a sound.

The bee buzzed; Anisha gulped down her tea.

So I got up out of the bed....
Shhhhh!!!
I mustn't wake my brother up!
Along the passage...
Careful not to tread on the creaky floorboard
Outside Mum and Dad's bedroom, because if they wake up and find me I'll be in BIG TROUBLE.

So, really quiet.

CREAKKKK!

Are they still asleep?
Yes. OK. Along the passage...

Down the stairs...

Into the kitchen...

Open the cupboard...

And...

Yeahhh! There it is!!!

So I take it out...
Just have a look at it.

Mmmm.

Look at it, yeahhhh...

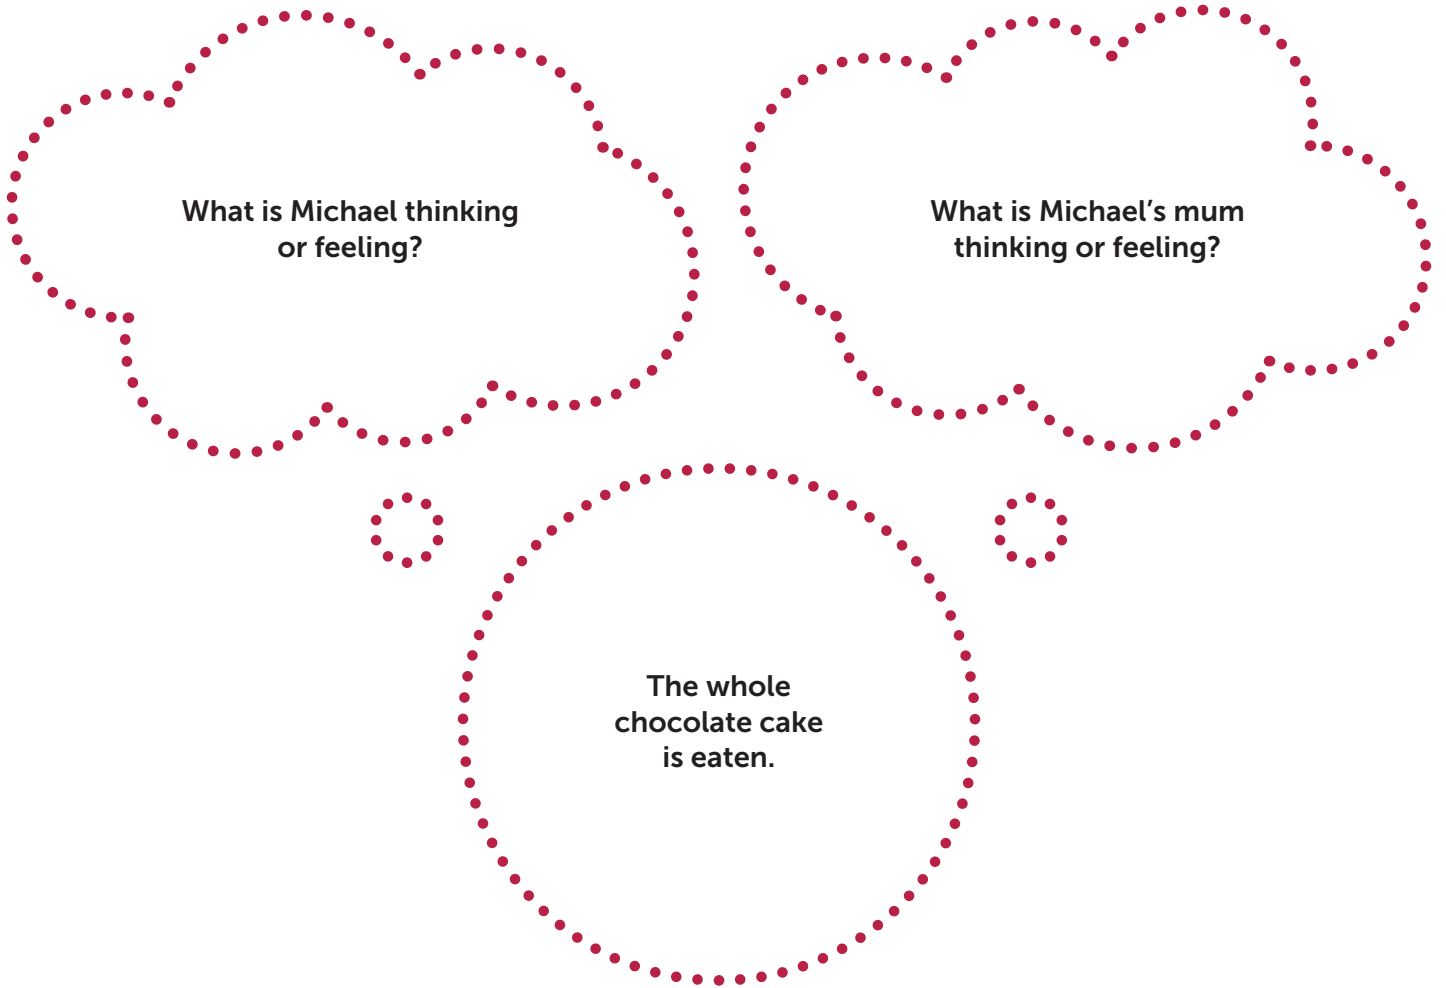

Oh, what's this? Oh... mmm... and then I notice some little crumbs on the plate. So I think, if I lick the end of my finger I could pick up some of those crumbs and no-one would know anything about it.

Chooka, chooka, chooka, chooka, chook!

What adjectives can you find?

Can you spot an example of onomatopoeia?

Can you come up with other flavours of cake using alliteration?
E.g. Sweet Succulent Strawberry

I know what Michael is thinking because:

12: How to Fight a Dragon's Fury

The very last in the series. It is the Doomsday of Yule. At the end of this day, either the humans or the dragons will face extinction. As Doomsday draws to an end can Hiccup be the Hero of the hour? Will the dragons survive?

The Wizards of Once series – By Cressida Cowell

About the book series

The Wizards of Once is an exciting high-adventure series set in an ancient, magical time, full of Wizards, Warriors, Giants and Sprites.

Book 1 – The Wizards of Once

Once there was Magic, and the Magic lived in the dark forests. Until the Warriors came ... Xar is a Wizard boy who has no Magic and will do anything to get it. Wish is a Warrior girl, but she owns a banned Magical Object, and she will do anything to conceal it. In this whirlwind adventure, Xar and Wish must forget their differences if they're going to make it to the dungeons at Warrior Fort. Where something that has been sleeping for hundreds of years is stirring ...

ACTIVITY

Drawing

The Wizards of Once has a Magic Spoon and Key in the books. Ask your child – what do you think they might look like if they were magic? Encourage them to draw what they might look like. Have a look around the house to see if you can gather together some keys and spoons so that they can examine them and use them for ideas for their drawings.

Then once complete, have a look at how Cressida draws her illustrations of the spoon and key. The Video is just over 1 minute long so you may need to play it through a few times:

Available for £1 or free using your World Book Day voucher. This World Book Day book takes place a few years before the adventures in Rooftoppers and can be read in any order.

High above the streets of Paris live the rooftoppers, a secret gang of children who eat, sleep and tumble amongst the chimney pots. It's a perilous life, but for Matteo and Mercedes the adventure is only just beginning. Caught up in a long-standing feud that threatens their existence amongst the stars, they find themselves on a hunt across Paris, tearing across the roofs of Versailles and the Louvre, searching for hidden treasure in a race against Henri Danglars – the enemy who would seek to destroy that which they love best.

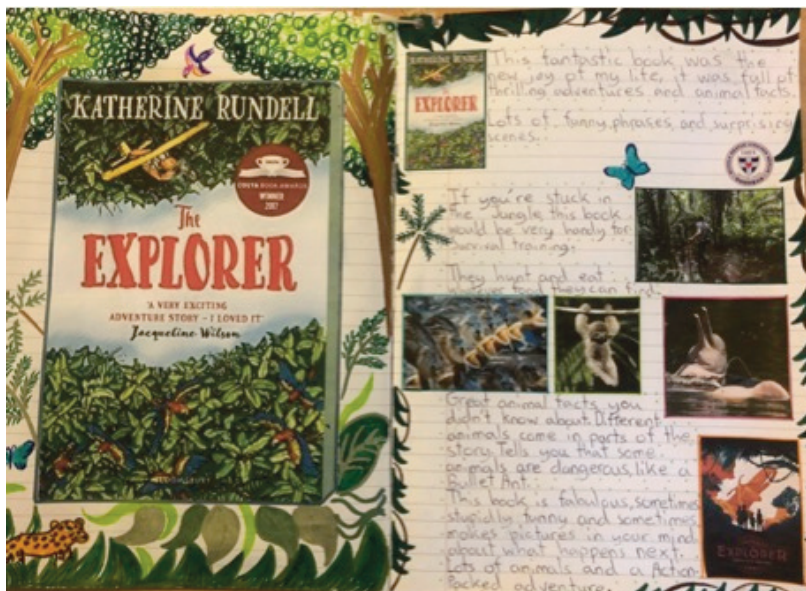

Rooftoppers - Illustrated by Marie-Alice Harel

Everyone tells Sophie that she was orphaned in a shipwreck. Sophie is convinced her mother is still alive and she's determined to find her. High up above the city of Paris, a group of children live secret lives on the rooftops. The book is a thrilling adventure about following your dreams, believing in yourself and never ignoring a possibility.

The book won The Waterstones Children's Book Prize and also The Blue Peter Book Award when it was first published.

6. Tom Palmer

About Tom

As a child Tom didn't enjoy reading and his mum encouraged him with newspapers and magazines about football. There were no books about football for children. Gradually he came to love books and studied for A levels when he was 21. Tom has worked in a bookshop and a library while he wrote his books. Tom has written around 40 books and won lots of awards.

Roy of the Rovers Series

Roy of the Rovers is a British comic strip about the life of a fictional footballer named Roy Race who played for Melchester Rovers. It continued with his son Rocky who also played for Melchester. The comic strips first started in 1954 and ran until May 2001. The publisher Rebellion have updated the legendary Roy of the Rovers comic for a new audience. Alongside Tom's 6 chapter books, are a series of graphic novel comic books written by Rob Williams.

Book 1 – Scouted

Roy Race is a totally normal 16 year old. He just happens to be the best striker in Melchester, too... Roy always dreamed of becoming a professional footballer and playing for Melchester Rovers, the team he's supported his entire life, but he never thought he had a chance - until now.

Book 2 – Teamwork

Roy Race is living the dream. After all, how many 16-year-olds get to play up front for their favourite football team? Except life as Melchester Rovers' new star striker isn't easy. Everyone's looking at him differently, social media is a nightmare, and Rovers are still stuck at the bottom of the league.

Book 3 – Play-Offs

The end of the season is here, and it's make or break for Roy Race and Melchester Rovers. Against all odds, Roy and his teammates are closer to getting Rovers promoted. However, if they fail to reach League One, then Rovers' owner Barry Cleaver plans to sell up, destroying Melchester Rovers for good.

Book 4 – On Tour

After a whirlwind season that saw him become centre forward for his beloved Melchester Rovers and score a bagful of goals, helping them secure promotion into League One, he's now recognised as one of the best young footballers in the country. But something strange is afoot as he is kept apart from his team.

Book 5 – From the Ashes

Roy Race watched the home ground of his beloved Melchester Rovers, burn to the ground. The club is in serious trouble and Roy was sold by cash-strapped Melchester to their greatest rivals, Tynecaster. But now Roy needs to find a way back to Rovers, and fast - or there won't be a club left to return to...

Book 6 – Rocky

The final story told from the perspective of a female footballer - Rocky Race, Roy's younger sister. A struggling student and brilliant footballer, Rocky is struggling to find her own way - as a person and a player - and she's going to need all her grit and determination to do it.

ACTIVITY

How to develop a Growth Mindset

Read Chapter 1 – either from the book or from Tom's sample on his website:

<https://www.tompalmer.co.uk/wp-content/uploads/2019/02/Scouted-chapter-1-and-2.pdf>

ACTIVITY

Children (and adults) with a fixed mindset believe that you are born good (or not so good) at something and that practice won't really make a difference. This activity may help to encourage children to think differently.

Points to discuss:

The chapter starts with Roy practicing his football all through his summer holidays. He had read that to be really good at something you have to practice doing it 10,000 times.

1. What do you think about that?
Do you think practicing will make any difference? If so, what difference would it make if he practiced every day of the summer holidays, or three times a week, or just once a week?
2. Sometimes, when something doesn't go right it is easy to give up.
In the Chapter we just read can you think of anything that happened that may have made Roy want to give up? What would you do? What did he do?
3. At the end of the Chapter Roy didn't feel like he had done enough to keep his place in the team, although the manager Yunis seemed to be happy. What do you think matters most – that you come out on top or win something, even if you don't try your best or that you don't win but have tried your hardest? Can you think of any examples when you have done your very best but it still wasn't good enough to win? What was positive about that?
4. Can you think of anything that you would like to get better at? It could be a sport, or learning a new skill such as the volley that Roy had been practising, improving your spelling, learning some maths that you have struggled with or learning a new hobby. Can you think of ways, strategies, to get better at something? What would you need to improve? Do you need to ask someone for help? Read about how to improve or watch a video? Who can support you as you learn your skills?

ACTIVITY

Writing

Roy and Rocky of the Rovers Writing Kit. Tom has created a set of eight writing activities inspired by this book series and you can download them free of charge here: <https://royoftherovers.com/shop/free>

ACTIVITY

Writing – using comics to develop writing skills

The books by Tom were created from graphic novel comic books written by Rob Williams and illustrated by Lisa Henke. Tom used the comic strip to think about what he needed to include in his stories.

Tom has developed an activity around Book 5 From the Ashes which can be used as a stand-alone activity. In this student pack all the resources are included for children to look at the comic strip, answer some questions then develop their own piece of prose. Tom has then included his own prose which you can read out to the group once they have all finished their own writing. The pack can be downloaded free of charge from here: <https://www.tompalmer.co.uk/wp-content/uploads/2020/02/Roy-worksheet-2020.pdf>

Foul Play (book 1 of a crime and football series) Danny is obsessed with two things: football - and investigating crimes. So when England and City footballing hero Sam Roberts is reported missing the day after Danny saw him being taken, blindfolded, into the bowels of the City FC stadium late at night, he's determined to get to the bottom of it.

Football Academy (Football books for age 6-9 year olds) Jake loves football and dreams of becoming a professional footballer. He's worried about his height though - what if he's too small for football? But on the day of his trial Jake is quick on the ball and scores - he's made it! But someone at the club wants to make his life difficult.

Secret FC - Published by Barrington Stoke as a more accessible read. Aimed at 6-10 year olds.

Lily, Zack and Khal can't believe it when the new headteacher at their school bans football in the playground. What will they do at break-time now? Then Zack has a brilliant plan and a very secret football club is formed.

Other books written by Tom Palmer

After the War - The Second World War is finally over and Yossi, Leo and Mordecai are among three hundred children who arrive in the English Lake District. Having survived the horrors of the Nazi concentration camps, they've finally reached a place of safety and peace, where they can hopefully begin to recover. Inspired by the true story of the Windermere Boys

Armistice Runner Lily has lots of worries. She's struggling to compete in her fell-running races and, worse, she's losing her gran to Alzheimer's. But then she discovers her great-great-grandfather's diaries from the First World War. Could his incredible story of bravery help her reconnect with her gran and even give her the inspiration she needs to push through and win?

D-Day Dog Jack can't wait for the school trip to the D-Day landing beaches. It's his chance to learn more about the war heroes he has always admired - brave men like his dad, who is a reserve soldier. But when his dad is called up to action things at home spiral out of control. Jack is drawn to a true story of, Emile Corteil who in June 1944 parachuted into France with his dog, Glen. Jack is determined to find out what happened to them.
