

Why There Should Be a Television Programme for Women's Football

Anyone who likes football can close their eyes and hear their AFL team's theme song. They can hear the crowd noise, imagine the football sailing through the goal posts and picture the players celebrating another goal. However, the players are always men. Why? I strongly believe that women's football should be given equal billing with men's football and that would include having the same programme for women each week.

Women's football is a popular and growing sport and should be represented on TV. Football is one of the most popular team sports for women, the crowds at games are getting bigger and the skill levels are even better than those in the men's game. It is time to give women's football equal standing on TV.

Girls who enjoy playing football should have access to role models that can be a positive influence for them. Not many people know the names of women's football stars. If girls could be more familiar with women who have become professional players, they would be more likely to train hard to try and achieve the same thing.

It is hugely important to give boys and girls equal rights in everything. Females are paid on average less than males and are not represented equally in films. As AFL is the national sport in Australia, it makes really good sense for football to lead the way in this. Wouldn't you like to have a world where everybody is treated equally?

Undoubtedly, the time has come to air a television programme for women too. This would be the perfect way to provide positive role models for girls and combat inequality. The time is now.
